WELCOME TO ICIAM 2015!

Dear friends,

Thank you for your participation in the Eighth International Congress on Industrial and Applied Mathematics! Welcome to Beijing!

It is fitting that ICIAM 2015 is being held in Beijing, China with its rich tradition in applied mathematics. This Congress is the first being held in China, in Asia as well as in developing countries.

In order to help you to enjoy the stay here, we prepared this brochure including information about the venue, transportation, hotels and restaurants nearby, general information along with tips of the city.

Our volunteers in green T-shirts are always ready to provide you with help and advice. You could find them at the registration desk and in meeting areas.

Wish you a happy time in Beijing!

With best regards,
ICIAM 2015 Secretariat

General Information about Beijing

INSURANCE

All participants are strongly recommended to arrange for medical and travel insurance for the duration of their stay in China. The committees and the ICIAM will not accept liability for sickness, personal injuries sustained, accidents, or for loss or damage to personal belongings of participants and their guests either during or as a result of the ICIAM 2015.

LANGUAGE

Chinese Mandarin is the official language both in Beijing and other cities in China. But like in many other cities, people in Beijing also have their own Beijing Dialect which is closely related to Mandarin.

ELECTRICITY

The electricity supply in China is 220V 50Hz. Most, but not all, sockets will accept both European and US style plugs.

WEATHER

Beijing weather in August is usually hot and humid, with an average daytime temperature of 30°C, decreasing to 18°C at night. In the evening, there may be occasional rain shower. The CNCC is air conditioned.
